Developing better men, husbands, fathers and leaders

National Men's Summit Weekend March 30th – April 1st 2012

Featuring Keynote Speaker Levi Roots

In January 2007, Levi was invited on to the BBC show Dragons Den, where he sang about the virtues of his Reggae Reggae Sauce and became, without doubt, the most famous participant on the show. Two of the entrepreneurs, Peter Jones and Richard Farleigh, invested in the project and the rollercoaster journey began.

Levi's success has meant that he has become a spokesperson for both Caribbean cuisines as well as more generally for entrepreneurship amongst the black community. He has visited hundreds of schools to encourage young children to adopt a positive approach and to show that you can succeed from humble beginnings.

The Mens Room is looking forward to hearing Levi tell his story, learning more about his praying grandmother and delegates look forward to being inspired as a result.
